Burking (army), dyeing the moustache and whiskers. It was at one time the custom for the whole of the men in smart cavalry regiments to dye their moustaches, &c., black, to burke or suppress their natural colour. This was for the sake of uniformity. Fashion in hair has always been a feature in military life. As in the past each corps prided itself on its own peculiar arrangement of pigtail and powder, so now there are regiments in which public opinion demands a hard and fast rule about hair. Few will tolerate whiskers; Piccadilly weepers, Dundrearies, as they were once called, are universally despised; and where the beard is permitted to be worn, as in India, its dimensions and trimming are often the subject of precise regulations. Burking meant formerly to stifle, from Burke, who was hung in 1829 for murder by suffocation of persons whose bodies he sold to surgeons for dissecting.
